

Monday-23/4

First, we met at the Friedrich-Albert-Lange-Berufskolleg school in Germany, where we started the week and got a guided tour. After that, we had our presentations that each country had prepared, regarding what insulation material and wall material we use. After lunch we were divided into 4 international groups that had different assignments, make a ground plan, what material to use in our walls, how much it costs to build a wall and one group that built the wall just as it is supposed to look later on. Afterward, it was time for a guided tour in Duisburg that took almost 2 hours. In the evening all the teachers and students ate together at the restaurant Costa Azurra.

Tuesday-24/4

On Tuesday we went to Köln, where we had to take on an, so to say, "escape room", which we did together in the international teams we were divided into. After this we got some spare time, and went to eat something, and during the afternoon we visited an architect in Köln that held a presentation about different projects she had been through, and then we got some more spare time before the trip back home. In the evening we ate and looked at Liverpool-Roma.

Wednesday-25/4

Wednesday started at "Ökologisches Bauzentrum Duisburg" where we saw how different insulation materials stood against sound, heat and fire. Then it was time to create a "mini wall" which we later processed with some form of clay. After the lunch, group 3 and 4 stayed in school and started their different assignments, at the same time group 1 and 2 got to go to the Lehmbrucks museum in Duisburg. Here we got a guided tour in the museum and then we got to create our own figures in the mud. Later we had spare time and during the evening all the students gathered and watched Bayern München - Real Madrid.

Thursday- 26/4

In the entire Thursday we worked in our international groups with the different assignments we had gotten. During the evening we had "Farewell dinner" where we all ate together one last time.

Friday- 27/4

During Friday morning the different international groups got to present their results, which was very successful. Unfortunately, then the time came for us Swedes to go to the airport to fly home. The other students went for one last trip to Düsseldorf.
