MOBILITY EXPERIENCE

On a scale from 1 (strongly disagree) to 5 (strongly agree) how would you evaluate the short-term joint staff training event as a whole:

QUESTION	SCALE
	1– Strongly disagree	2– Disagree	3 – Neither agree or disagree	4– Agree	5 – Strongly agree
1) The short-term joint staff training event has met my expectations	1	2	3	4	5X
Comments: I was eager to learn and share ideas I could use with my students but I found more: a new impulse to develop some skills which go beyond the classroom such as being a good communicator, collaborator, problem solver and organiser, have empathy with team members. Now I'm also highly motivated to use cooperative learning in my classes because I have testified that when the students fully participate and put forth effort within their group they learn but also have fun.
2) It was well organized in terms of time and place	1	2	3X	4	5
Comments: I wish I had the possibility to follow the lessons of more colleagues
3) I had the opportunity to compare myself with colleagues from the partner school and exchange good practices	1	2	3	4X	5
Comments: Teachers need to use a variety of teaching tools and techniques and perfectly know how to deal with them, for example, an interactive board or a computer. Some examples of good practices I would like to use in my classes are: songs (lyricstraining.com), games (running dictation,), role plays (theatre performances in ESL or minority languages)
4) I could compare myself with foreign colleagues on effective pedagogical methods for teaching English as a second language and	1	2	3	4X	5

vehicular language (CLIL).
Comments: English as a second language: we spoke about international certifications and similar opportunities like the online competition The Big Challenge. CLIL : it's important to find connections with the students personal experiences and interests, to make your classroom active and let the students learn by doing, interact with objects and visuals, incorporate projects that allow students to create.
