European Union facts

Kids Encyclopedia Facts

The European Union (abbreviation: EU) is a confederation of 27 member countries in Europe established by the Maastricht Treaty in 1992-1993. The EU grew out of the European Economic Community (EEC) which was established by the Treaties of Rome in 1957. It has created a common economic area with Europe-wide laws allowing the citizens of EU countries to move and trade in other EU countries almost the same as they do in their own. Nineteen of these countries also share the same type of money: the euro.

The Treaty of Lisbon is the most recent treaty that says how the Union is run. Every member state signed to say that they each agreed with what it says. Most importantly, it says which jobs ('powers') the Union should do for the members and which jobs they should do themselves. The members decide how the Union should act by voting for or against proposals.

The objective of the EU is to bring its member states closer together with respect of human rights and democracy. It does this with a common style of passport, common rules about fair trading with each other, common agreements about law enforcement, and other agreements. Most members share a common currency (the euro) and most allow people to travel from one country to another without having to show a passport

H: So guys, what do you want to do? Where shall we go first?

J: I'm definitely for the sports museum. I love sports!

L: Not me, I don't like sports at all! I love eating so let's visit the chocolate museum!

J: The sports museum isn't about DOING sports, Lucy. It's about the German HISTORY of sports and they show that awards Germany already won.

H: Booooooring! I agree with Lucy, let's visit the Chocolate Museum. I heard you can even eat some chocolate out of a big chocolate fountain! Isn't it cool?

L: Yes it is.

H: And afterwards, we can go shopping on the "Schildergasse". The shopping street is really famous.

J: Sorry Hannah, but I am definitely NOT going to Cologne just to go shopping.

L: He's right, and I am not going to Cologne to visit a sports museum although you know I adore history.

J: Okay, you're right. So, let's visit the Chocolate Museum then. And afterwards?

L: We need to see Cologne Cathedral. It's the most important landmark in Cologne! I am going NOWHERE without having visited it first. Did you know it took more than 600 years to build it? And that there is a shrine made of gold, containing the bones of the Three Holy Kings? Many pilgrims visit Cologne Cathedral every year because of it!

H: Well, I don't know much about history, but Cologne Cathedral is something I must visit. And I need to take a selfie on the boulevard with the cathedral on it...

J: Okay, so now we have Cologne Cathedral and the Chocolate Museum on the list. But no guided tours, alright? You'll be our guide.

L: Okay, so I guess the Roman Museum is out of question?

J+H: Yes!

J: But you can tell us something about Roman history while walking along the river.

L: Oh, good idea! But won't it be too much walking? You know I don't like sports...

H: Let's do a boat tour!

J: I'm totally in favor of that. Who will research about it?

H: I can do it. Travel time, price and so on.

J: Let's sum up: Cologne Cathedral first, then the Chocolate Museum and then... boat tour during sunset.

H: Fabulous!

The fifth season of the year in Cologne: Carnival

People from all over Germany come to see the parade

New words

Scapegoat - fasting – sins - costume

WHERE AND WHEN

The Cologne Carnival is a Rhenish folk festival, which is one of the world's largest and most famous carnival festivals. The people of Cologne also call it "Fastelovend" or "Fasteleer". The whole celebration is considered called "the fifth season of the year" by the people of Cologne.

HISTORY

In the Middle Ages carnival was celebrated to drive out the winter. According to the Christian calendar, Carnival is the last weekend before Lent, which meant forty days of fasting.

CHARACTERS

Three characters stand symbolically as a triumvirate for the Cologne Carnival – Prince, Farmer and Virgin. All three are played by men. They rule the city until Ash Wednesday - in German "Aschermittwoch"

ACTIVITIES

The festival is opened on 11/11 at 11:11. The carnival season with the performances of dance and music groups begins on New Year's. On Fat Thursday ("Weiberfastnacht"), the Thursday before Ash Wednesday, the street carnival opens at 11:11 am. The women conquer the city halls and take control of the city. They all wear costumes and go to the pubs to drink and sing.

However, the official highlight is the parade on Rose Monday ("Rosenmontag"). More than a million people come to watch the parade. Everyone on the streets dresses up and sweets ("Kamellen") are thrown from the floats in the parades. The louder you sing or shout "Kamelle", the more sweets you get!

On the night before Ash Wednesday the "Nubbel", a clothed straw doll, is burned as a scapegoat for the sins in Carnival. This usually happens outside pubs. At midnight, Carnival stops and Lent begins

Adolph Kolping: A social reformer in the industrialized times

In the meantime, there are 115 international Kolping Houses

Kerpen, a city with about 68,000 inhabitants, is the largest in the Rhein Erft County and located about 20 kilometres southwest from Cologne.

Adolph Kolping was born in Kerpen in 1813. He was a frail child and the fourth of five children born in a very poor family. He proved to be an able student while in school from 1820 to 1826 but his poverty prevented him from furthering his education, despite his commitment to pursue additional studies.

As a shoemaker's assistant in Cologne he was shocked by the living conditions of the working class. This influenced his decision to become a priest in 1845. He led the charge to provide social support for workers in industrialized cities, while also trying to help journeymen workers, who had to search for work from one city to another. His idea was that all that all humans have to be understood as a whole (family, job, dreams...) and that every human has inborne talents as well as a specific task in this world, reforming essential social structures with these ideals.

In 1850 he united existing associations to form the Rhenish Journeymen (Rheinischer Gesellenbund), which was the origin of the present international Kolpingwerk. In the meantime, there are 115 international Kolping Houses, which have adapted to the times by focusing their goals on education accessible to everyone. Adolph Kolping died in 1865. His beatification was celebrated under Pope John Paul II on Saint Peter's Square in 1991. Kerpen added the title to the city the title of Kolpingstadt (Kolping City) in 2012.

1) Read the text and complete the biography of Adolph Kolping

- 2) Research about the Kolping Houses. Is there one close to you? What does that Kolping House make special?
- 3) Imagine you have a conversation with Adolph Kolping. He wants to know if education is accessible to more people today than it was in his time. What would you tell him?
- 4) Write the biography of a famous person from your country
- Place and period the person lived in, add photos
  - Main achievements in his/her life
  - What did he do that made him famous?
  - What after-effects does her/his acts??have nowadays?
