

Question	In planning to study abroad what kinds of problems would you expect to need help with?	What reasons hold you back from studying abroad?	What reasons encourage you to study abroad?	In what way can it be an advantage for the professional or personal development to study abroad?
Answer	The Danish student tend to worry about language and money the most. Next in line comes where to live and study.	Family and money seem to be main reasons but also age.	The reasons vary a lot but meeting new people and experience the world and different cultures play a part in the answers. Apart from that also improving language skills is mentioned.	Things like personal development shines through but also improving academic skills.
Question	What skills would you need most in case you decide to study abroad?	"study abroad opportunities" offered in your country.	Have you ever considered studying abroad?	If yes, where would you like to study? Why?
Answer	Communicative skills tend overall to matter the most however social skills are also mentioned.	Apart from Erasmus+ projects there are possibilities like student exchanges programs to other part of the world	App. 25 % havent yet consideres studying abroad.	USA is definately the most popular country - the UK comes ind second.
Question	Name some skills you have learnt at school which you think are transferable to the world of work.	What reasons hold you back from working abroad?	What reasons encourage you to study abroad?	What kind of problems could cultural differences cause in a workplace?
Answer	Being able to cooperate in projects, social skills and mainly subjects like math and language	Because of the young age of the Danish students most of them haven's consideres working abroad yet.	The students' answers show very positive perceptions of the opportunities of the world regarding adventure, personal development and the chance to make money.	The students worry mostly about discrimination and communication going wrong.
Question	Employers find it important that employees are able to connect with others, interact, create contacts and be able to work with all kind of personalities. How do you show that you are good at this when applying for a job?	If you were an employer, what skills would you look for in a job candidate? What is important regardless of the job?	What might be your strengths when applying for a job?	What skills do you still need to develop before applying for a job?
Answer	The students find it important to be able to refer to preveous jobs and also show receptiveness and good manners	The students prioritise skills like experience and being able to communicate but highest regarded are social skills.	Again social and communitation skills are prioritised. Other strenghts menitioned are professionalism, knowledge, perfectionism and manners.	This vary a lot. However, many mention communication and social skills but also skills that associate with team work skills.

Question	Do you think "team work/collaboration" is one of the skills needed in the world of work? If yes, why? If not, why?	What do you think "learning to learn" means?	Why would you need "learning to learn" skills in your future life?	Name some challenges of working abroad?
Answer	This is the way companies work today because "two brains are better than one". However, some also tend to place social skills on an equal footing with team work skills. This is necessarily not the case although connected.	Not many know about the concept.	Not many know about the concept.	Language, housing, culture, money, job, family - and you might forget your home country!
Question	How can you overcome these challenges?	How or where can you best learn these skills?	Have you ever considered working abroad? If yes, where would you like to work? Why?	What are the advantages of being an entrepreneur?
Answer	By improving on communication and social skills, learning about culture and jobs, working hard and stay in contact with family and friends	From family and friends, by trying your best - and last but not least in school.	All in all the Danish students only consider English speaking countries as a possibility.	You are able to carry out your own ideas - make your decisions of your own.
Question	What are the disadvantages of being an entrepreneur?
Answer	A lot of responsibility, hard work and the risk of failure.			