

Tuesday

We started the day by meeting outside the school and then getting on the tour bus we had available for all outings during the week. It was the same bus that had taken us Swedes and the Germans from the airport in Thessaloniki on Sunday. The first stop was Porto Lagos, a Greek-Orthodox monastery on a little island in a lake. We saw the little church and some monk. It was a very pretty place with flamingoes and other birds. After that, we went to the river Nestos where we had a snack, took a walk in the mountains along the river and watched the meandering of the river.

After this we went to the small town of Xanthi, where we visited The House of Shadows, a very unusual art museum with amazing sculptures made out of junk and trash. They made shadows on the walls which was the actual art. We walked around the little town and had a snack and got some inspiration for our projects.
