A play by Friedrich Schiller

Fotheringhay castle, 16. century

Act: Mary is held as a prisoner in Fotheringhay Castle, England. Her rooms is searched by her custodian Paulet, who wants to make sure, Mary hides no secret letters to or from Queen Elisabeth's enemies, who want to have Mary on the throne instead of Elisabeth

Dear Hanna, don't worry - it's not the jewelry that makes a queen!

This man is just doing his job ...

Did the judges sentence me, Sir Paulet?

It's almost 20 years now since I helped to kill my husband, Lord Darnely. And now his ghost haunts me ....

Maybe I deserve it ...

How can you keep so calm, my poor queen?

... for all the things I did when I was young ...

CRASH!

But he deserved it!
