

Our Erasmus+ week in Rhauderfehn

We set off to Rhauderfehn on Sunday, 24th of November 2019.

First we travelled to Berlin by airplane and after that by three very modern and comfortable trains. We travelled almost all day but it wasn't bad because we chatted a lot. (Nanett)

On Monday (25th November) we were in the school all day. First we watched the films we had made about our grandparents' wedding customs.

Then we took part at 3 English lessons, which were about monuments. After the lessons we had lunch. After lunch we walked around Rhauderfehn to find monuments. Then we went to our host families'. That day was fine. (Barnabás)

Tuesday (26th November) was a very good and pithy day, too. We learnt more about Rhauderfehn and its past on 3 English lessons. We talked about the monuments which can be found in the city.

In the afternoon, we visited an interesting museum. There we learnt more about the area's history by doing a little difficult task imagining we were people of the middle age who founded the town. Then we learnt how to drink tea properly at a tea ceremony and had some delicious cake, too. (Bence Patrik)

On Wednesday (27th November) we were in the school again. We weren't in mixed groups, we worked with our schoolmates. All day long we needed to do a kind of monument about our city. All we had were some pieces of wood and paint, so we needed to be creative, but we did it quite well. It was fun, and the time passed fast so I liked it. And we laughed so much while making our fantastic monument. It was, after two days with students of mixed nationalities, a little calmer because we could share our experiences with people we knew better. (Boglárka)

On Thursday (28th November) we travelled to the Netherlands. We woke up quite early and took our bus in the morning. We arrived in Delfzijl, which is on the seaside in the Netherlands, in about an hour. We got acquainted with the construction, use and development of dams.

The next program was at the museum-aquarium. We had to collect information about the objects and stories in the museum. After that we travelled to Groningen. We had 2 free hours in the city, which included sightseeing and coffee. The trip to the Netherlands was a great experience. (Bercel)

On Friday (29th November) we completed our monuments in the school. We worked a lot on it. Then we explained the parts of the monuments in a presentation. In the afternoon we were given a farewell party in the school. The hosts made pancakes for us. In the evening we packed our suitcases and spent our last evening with our host families.

It was a nice week in Rhaderfehn. (Bence)
