

Job shadowing in an office

I visited my mother at her office this summer.

She works around 20 km from our house.

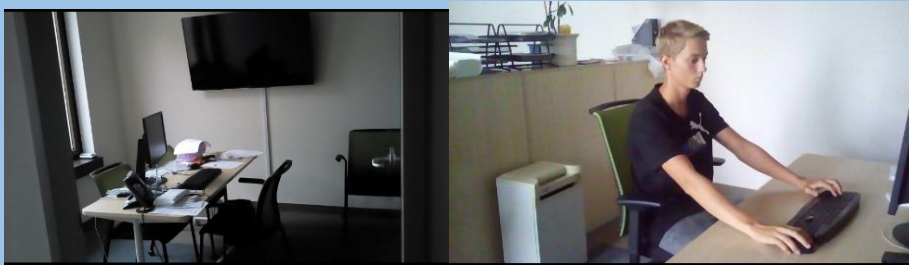

She used to go to her work place by our car.

One morning I joined her and we went to the office.

There are working around 20-30 people in nice tidy rooms.

Some of them receive customer orders and forward them to the warehouse. Others are working for marketing, finance or logistics. Working hours are between 9:00-17:00.

They are working with computers mainly They don't use too much paper because they want to protect nature.

I learned how to work together in an open office and don't disturbed each other.

I felt that I could help her to work and asked what can I do.

She told me I have to learn much before I start to work in an office.
