

My feelings about Finland (by Tomáš Kohut, Czech Rep.)

The first feelings from Finland were at the time when our plane landed and I saw the beautiful city of Helsinki. First I was excited about the first visit to a foreign country and it was my first flight by plane, but I was a bit disappointed the there was no snow in Finland!

After two hours of bus travel from the airport and waiting in front of the hotel, I finally first saw the Toissalo family. The family is really great at first glance and they always wanted to take care of me. A beautiful house and other things are just a little part of this family.

Other things in Finland, more precisely in the cities of Turku and Naantali, were really nice houses, a castle in Turku and the Old town in Naantali. I hope that I will be able to visit this country again and If I can see the beautiful polar glow, I would be the happiest man.
