

Here is the Easter grass. The Finnish also call it "rairuoho". Many Finnish people grow Easter grass when there is Easter.

This is our traditional Easter flower. This flower called Narcissus.

Finnish children dress in various outfits for example witch on Palm Sunday and stroll through the doors and people give chocolate to children. Easter eggs are also part of Easter.

Spring is here! Easter decorations are important in my family because they bring a festive atmosphere and then we start to approach more summer.
