

A Christmas story from Croatia

The time of Advent arrived in a small country of Croatia. We were all very much looking forward to it. We lit the Advent candles, decorated classrooms and our houses, baked cakes. We were looking forward to it and couldn't wait for the winter holidays.

One week before Christmas we walked around the city of Zagreb and met a homeless man. He was very kind to us.

We didn't have the heart to leave him in the middle of the street. We decided to help him.

When he heard this he was very cheerful and glad that someone wanted to help him. We collected the money we had prepared for our trip and gave it to him. So we provided him with warm accommodation and food. We visited him for Christmas and brought him presents.

It wasn't much, but he was overwhelmed. We were very happy he enjoyed it. We spent time in telling stories about our adventures in Europe because we learned a lot while traveling with the Erasmus + project. He praised us and thanked us for helping him. He shared his life story with us.

We decided to continue to help others and make people happy. Smiles on other people's faces is our mission!
