

Erasmus week: 8/11/2020 – 12/11/2021

When I first joined the Erasmus project, last year, I believed that I already knew what it was going to be like when the time came to hosting the foreign students; however, I don't think we are ever ready for what actually happened during those tiny five days...

If I had to describe the whole week in just one word, I think that word would be: intense.

During that week, I got to do two of the things I love the most in the world: meeting new people and making new, happy memories. The places that I visited and the connections I made during just that time, were much more and more intense than the ones I do in a year!

Being able to be a part of a project like this is really helping me see that there is much more to life than what school usually lets us know, and I'm sure that I will hold on to the memories I made and am about to make (hopefully next year!) for the rest of my life.

I consider this picture to be my favorite, both because it was the first we took as a group and because it was during this moment that everyone started to bond, becoming the starting point of the adventure that was the week.

By Clara Vaz

