

When I decided to go on Erasmus I never thought that I would have an experience like this. I really enjoyed learning more about different cultures and traditions and I also liked the way we learned about sustainable tourism because we learned it in a way that we didn't get bored. I made friends that I will never forget and I was very sad to come back to my country because I didn't want it to end. Everyone was so kind and welcoming and I can easily say that I would repeat the experience that I had over and over again.
