Logo competition in IES San Pedro de Alcántara

Throughout the month of December, volunteer students from the groups in compulsory secondary education participated in the process of designing the logo for our Erasmus+ project “Heritage for development”.

The call for participants went out the last week of November, and the basis for the competition were presented to all the different groups during an English lesson. This presentation was also a chance to explain some details of our project to students interested in taking part in activities and future mobilities to Poland, Turkey, Greece and Italy.

The call could be considered a success since we had a total number of 21 designs presented. Six of those drawings were selected by some of the teachers in the “Erasmus work group”. Finally, there was a second vote with eight teachers to choose the two participants for the international final contest.
