

Spain

Why to go there

Spain really does have it all, from incredible beaches and landscapes to amazing food and striking architecture. The country is multicultural which makes it seem like a country with thousands of countries in it. Wherever you go you are always close to a beach, Spain has 5000 miles of coastlines and thousands of beaches. With over 300 days of sunshine each year you have no reason not to go to Spain.

The sights to visit and things to do:

Spain has many beautiful cities and the most popular are Barcelona, Madrid and Seville. There are many sights to visit in Spain and a lot of things to do. Antoni Gaudí is a Catalan architect who made many famous buildings. The buildings he made is a church which is called La Sagrada Familia, he has also made Casa Milá, Casa Batllo and a park that is called Parc Güell and many more. You can also eat paella which is the national dish in Spain.

In Spain, there is a lot of beautiful nature where you can either ski or backpack. One mountain range is the Pyrenees which is between France and Spain. Spain also has fun traditions. One of them is castells which is when people compete to do human towers with different levels.

Holiday expressions:

Gracias- Thank you
Por favor- Please
¡Hola!- Hello
¿Que tal? or Como estas? - How are you?
Quiero un refresco- I want a soda
Quiero un helado- I want an ice cream
¿Dónde está?- Where is it?

Languages

The four main languages in Spain are Spanish or Castilian, Galician, Basque and Catalan. Spanish is spoken in the whole country, Galician is spoken in Galicia, Basque is spoken in Vasco y Navarra and Catalan is spoken in Catalunya and in the Balearic Islands, Ibiza, Mallorca and Menorca.

