5. Can you shortly write what you most fixed in your mind?

The kids were very interested in seeing partner videos and discovering different customs and cultures. Listening to different languages was fun and exchanging Christmas and Easter postcards was a fun activity because it gave children the opportunity to speak English in the best of their abilities. Knowing the dishes of different nations of the project has been enriching and exciting and it was great to work on the same ideas, far away but close as regards engagement, enthusiasm and emotions. For children it was a project of great educational significance both from a linguistic point of view and from the point of view of citizenship.

6. Did you find any difficulty to understand your friends' work?
