

BRINGING TRADITIONS TOGETHER

INCLUSIVE PRACTICES AT WORK!

WE DECIDED TO CELEBRATE LA CASTANYADA...

'La Castanyada' is our autumnal festival and to honour it we eat roasted chestnuts (castanyes), roasted sweet potatoes (boniatos) and sweets (panellets) made of almond flour, sugar, eggs and sweet potato. Panellets have different coatings, such as pine nuts, coconut flakes, almonds or they can be topped with a dollop of quince paste or a glacé cherry.

...TOGETHER WITH HALLOWEEN!

We added some twists to the traditional panellets by colouring them to make them scarier for our special guests.

Here we have some of our Erasmus pupils (clockwise):

Lucía (in green), Daniela, Alba, Noah, Natalia, Alba, Sofía, Paula, Erika, Rabbi and Eric.

WE CARVED OUT SOME PUMPKINS, TOO...

It must be perfect!

First, you design the face of the lantern, then you cut off its crown...and I am sure you know how to carry on from this point!

Look at how concentrated Alba is!

AND WE HAD INCLUDED BOTH TRADITIONS IN A NEW ONE, CASTAWEEN!

Scary
stuff!

They're
yummy!
