I am writing this letter in order to apply for an internship within your editorial staff. This internship would be a real opportunity for me.

I have a general baccalaureate. Having been received at ESJ Lille where I will begin my studies next year, I wish to become a journalist. I have the first Cambridge exam and I also speak French, German and Spanish. This attraction for languages allowed me to participate for three years in an Erasmus + project whose theme was Youth and the economy. As part of this project, I was able to meet and work with German and Polish students and deepen my mastery of the English language. Just as I participated for three years in a RIB (International Relations and Bilingualism) workshop which allowed me to develop a critical mind. I have writing skills and I show a real attraction for international news. This is why doing an internship within your editorial staff would give me real experience and would be a real opportunity for me.

I am available for an interview at your convenience.
Thank you, in advance for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Clara Vaslin
