

THE WAITER

The waiter is the one who handles the friendly service of the clients. Even if you have the right attitude, most restaurants want qualified and professional employees.

Qualification courses for waiters are for a fee and last on average two months or you can attend an economic high school (4 years) or a vocational school (3 years) in state education.

At the end of the courses, which include theoretical and practical training, you receive a certificate of qualification in the job of waiter.

The waiter must also demonstrate flexibility, professionalism, sales skills, know one or more languages of international circulation, be a sociable and kind person.

A waiter who works in a restaurant has the average net salary of 2000 lei (413 euros). But in addition to the salary the tip received can reach double the salary in a busy month.

The job of waiter is very demanding and assumes a very good organizational spirit. Here are the attributes of a waiter:

- Preparing the salon for service
- Receiving customers and presenting the menu
- Take the order and send it to the chef
- Cashing in payment notes
- Disposal of meals and preparing them for future customers

Like any job and the waiter comes with certain advantages and disadvantages:

Advantages:

- It's an easy-to-learn job
- You will interact daily with dozens of people
- It will develop your ability to work under pressure and intron mode alert
- The demand for waiters is very high both in Romania and abroad, so you will not lack of work
- If you behave well with clients you can choose a tip that often exceeds the salary

Disadvantages:

- If you don't have a good physical condition it can be quite difficult for you
- You'll meet enough disgruntled customers that you need to calm down.
- You're going to have to work a lot on weekends.
- You won't know exactly how much money you'll make in a month, because the tip varies from customer to customer

If you are dedicated to the job of waiter and treat your clients seriously, you will be able to earn substantial amounts of money and you will have the chance to advance. This way you can be able to be a salon manager or a restaurant manager.
