

Dear cousin John!

I would like to express my gratitude but also to congratulate you for the quality and durability of the chest you made a few months ago for my long trip around the world! This chest accompanied me throughout my journey through the jungle, the sea, and the vast deserted areas without the slightest harm! And not only that, but it managed to carry various objects of great emotional value - souvenirs of my trip, which will accompany me throughout my life!

In return I would like you to accept a small gift, a map, which will testify to your descendants our even distant kinship, but above all our deep friendship and your contribution to my legendary journey around the Earth in 80 days!

And since I am a lover of adventure, I invite you to a game ...

On the map I give you, you'll find all the countries I visited on my trip. In some of them I discovered valuables, which I kept in my chest .... Can you find them?

Start by solving this riddle:

It is a small object

but necessary for the trip.

Without this I will not find the destination,

On the contrary, I may get lost ...

What is it???

Phileas Fogg