To future generations

Object : The future and the planet

Hello,

My name is Paul. I am a student in the high school Brocéliande and right now, we are in 2021. A lot of pesticides and insecticides are used. Pesticides poison the land. Therefore the consumers eat poisoned vegetables and cereals. It's a huge problem because it damages our health and can even kill people. It's hard to find the middle between the pesticides and a sufficient production to feed the population. I hope the situation, that you, students of 2030 who are reading right now this letter, is better than today and I hope the mentality will have changed for the best.

Goodbye and good luck for the rest,

Paul
