

My impressions about peer learning method

Best words to describe peer - learning method are my free time that gives you an unique experience with helping smaller children in need of someone's help. In my opinion, helping kids, who need and want somebody to help them solve their math and writing problems is interesting, for us as helpers and for kids as well. But as far as I'm considered nothing goes perfectly well, sometimes I run into an unbearable class, where kids don't want help even though some need it. Sometimes kids are annoyed of everything, but sometimes they are happy, that I came, they are talking to me while I am helping others. When kids are nice, everything is easier and my help is more efficient. Of course if we as a older students give enough help, if we often visit kids and help them, we are rewarded, we get an option of leaving our school for a week, travelling to a different country, living with people from there and going to their school as well.
