

Elema Alexandra Apostoleanu (born October 16, 1986) professionally known as Inna, is a Romanian singer and dancer. She rose to major fame when, in 2009, when her debut studio album was an international success, with it appearing in many record charts around the world and reaching in top 10.

Inna was born on October 16, 1986 in the resort of Neptun, Romania, near Mangalia on the Black Sea. When she was a teenager, Inna listened to a large variety of music genres including electro house and euro pop. However, she also used to listen to Beyoncé, Celine Dion or Whitney Houston.

Many times, she has been compared to Shakira, Lady Gaga and Britney Spears. She named David Guetta her main source of inspiration.
