

WHAT'S THE BUILDING IN THE DRAWING CALLED?

The building is historically best known as the factory where very popular bikes were manufactured between 1953 and 1991.

Now it is a squat in Ljubljana, occupied and open since 2006.

Today, the former factory serves as a space for alternative content: multiple gallery spaces, art studios, two skateparks (including the largest covered skatepark in the Balkans), a Social Center for disadvantaged groups, various concert and clubbing venues, a bicycle repair shop, etc.
