

A World of Migrants

Pablo Picasso (1881-1973) World famous painter

Pablo Picasso was born in Malaga, Spain, 1881. In 1901 he moved to Barcelona and later Paris, which he found to be the ideal place to practice new styles, and experiment with a variety of art forms.

Pablo Picasso, Guernica

Pablo Picasso was a pacifist and some large scale paintings which he created can be seen as a cry for peace. After the German bombing of Guernica, he painted “Guernica” which shows the brutality of war and death. Pablo Picasso produced a painting unlike anything he or anyone else had ever painted before, a work that would completely change the direction of art in the 20th century. In 1962, Pablo Picasso was awarded the Lenin Peace Prize.

@erasmus_plus_come

Funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

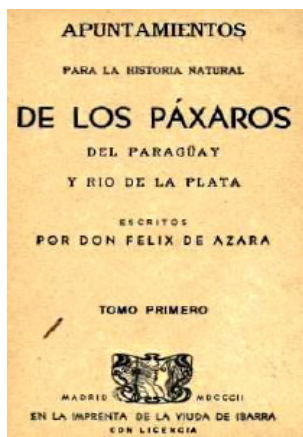

A World of Migrants

Felix de Azara (1742-1821) Adventurer and forerunner of evolution

Felix de Azara was born in Huesca, Spain, 18th May 1742. Felix de Azara studied at the University of Huesca and completed his training in Barcelona, where he studied mathematics. He later participated in the expedition to Algeria (1775), where he was seriously wounded. He stayed in Paraguay and in Rio de la Plata for twenty years, and studied study the fauna, flora and geography of the area. After returning to Europe, he lived in Paris with his brother José Nicolás. When his brother died, he decided to return to Spain, where he died in 1821.

Felix de Azara did not only describe animals and plants. He also asked himself some questions about the distribution and origin of different species. So, Azara was a forerunner of Darwin and his theory of evolution, which was, however, only published in the 19th century.

@erasmus_plus_come

Funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

A World of Migrants

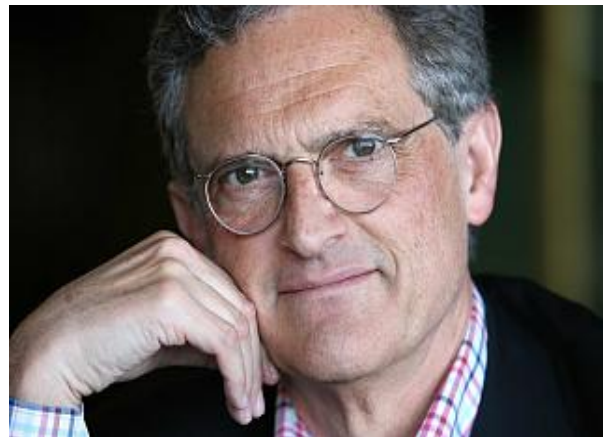

Luis Rojas Marcos (born 1943) World famous psychiatrist

Luis Rojas Marcos was born in Seville, Spain, in 1943. He is one of today's most respected psychiatrists. He was a hyperactive child, but thanks his mother he could vent off his energy playing the drums in a rock music quartet. Immediately after graduating from Seville University Medical School, he migrated to

New York City in the US where he soon became one of the leading experts on psychiatry.

In 1972, he began to study the effects of the language barrier on mentally ill immigrants who had problems expressing themselves in English. Dr. Marcos also set up "HELP" (Homeless Emergency Liaison Project), the first project which helps mentally ill people, who are homeless and live in the streets.

Luis Rojas Marcos has won many awards and prizes, e.g. the "Medal of the Arts and Literature of Spain" in 2010 .

@erasmus_plus_come

Funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

