

National minorities in Croatia

The national minority is a part of a particular nation or nation that does not live in its nation state, but as a minority in another state, along with other nations.

According to the 2011 census, 4,284,889 inhabitants were listed in the Republic of Croatia, of which 328,738 were members of national minorities. I am also a member of a national minority.

Croatia had to regulate freedom for national minorities in order to enter European Union, but even so, there is still a lot discrimination of minorities in Croatia.

Somewhere in Zagreb

You do not belong here, go back to your own country!

In public people can see us as impostors among them.

Jutarnji list - Vijeće Europe: U Hrvatskoj se i dalje diskriminiraju nacionalne manjine, posebno Romi i Srbi

Nacionalne manjine u Republici Hrvatskoj \(srce.hr\)

Ured za ljudska prava i prava nacionalnih manjina - Provedba Ustavnog zakona o pravima nacionalnih manjina u Republici Hrvatskoj \(gov.hr\)

Ured za ljudska prava i prava nacionalnih manjina - Rusini i Ukrajinci \(gov.hr\)

THE END