Portugal is one of the most fascinating countries in Europe. There, you can find beautiful beaches, historical places like Lisboa and Porto, and many more things.

Portugal is situated in southwestern Europe, in the western coast next to Spain. Portugal's population is 9.866.000 inhabitants, and the most populated cities are Lisbon and Porto. Their language is the Portuguese, which is spoken in different continents like Europe, Africa and America.

Different curiosities of Portugal are that their open-air markets with ceramic posts are very important together with carved wood and paper figures that evoke Chinese lanterns.

Another tradition deeply rooted in Portugal is that it is very typical to find barbecues in its streets, where people are continuously cooking chickens, piglets and sardines.

In my opinion, Portugal is a very nice country to travel to and spend a few days, so as soon as I have the opportunity, I'll go there and I'm sure I'll enjoy it.
