

HOSPITAL DE LAS 5 LLAGAS

The Andalusian Parliament, old Hospital of the Five Wounds, was built and designed by Don Martin de Gainza in the year 1546. He was responsible for directing all works almost until his death. His successor was the great Renaissance architect Hernán Ruiz II, who inaugurated it two years later.

The most important element of the building is the church, which is located in the central courtyard, has a Latin cross, and how could it be otherwise, has a very prominent Renaissance style. Since 1992, it houses the full, and the most important part is the high altar, built by Diego López Bueno, and with paintings of Alonso Vázquez.

The old hospital of the 5 wound of our redeemer also know as the hospital of the blood this bulding has locate in la macarena neighborhood of Seville and I currently the sead of Andalusian parlament

The bulding have long facades that are orizontally divided into 3 bodies by means of molding toppy by cornice

IGLESIA DE LA MACARENA

The Basilica of Santa Maria de la Esperanza Macarena, also known popularly as the Basilica of the Macarena, is a Catholic temple located at number 1 of Bécquer Street, in the district of San Gil belonging to the Casco Antiguo district of the city of Seville (Spain).

The building is the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Hope Macarena, which makes a season of penance in the early morning of Good Friday with the images of Mary Most Holy of Hope Macarena, Our Father Jesus of the Judgment and Our Lady of the Rosary.

