

A central globe of the Earth is surrounded by various symbols representing different aspects of human culture and science. At the top is a grey igloo. To the right is a Native American flag with a purple and orange zigzag pattern. Below the flag is a traditional wooden building with a thatched roof. At the bottom right is a satellite dish. At the bottom is a kangaroo. To the left is a yellow and black striped lighthouse. Above the lighthouse is a white rocket ship. The globe itself is colored with orange and yellow for landmasses and blue for oceans.
