

Secret Diary of Adrian Mole

I've read a book called „ The secret diary of adrian mole aged 13½” It's written in a diary style and shows the worries and regrets of Adrian Mole who believes that he is an intellectual.

Believe it or not I'm also a teenager! Adrian and me are somewhat similar.

Unlike me, Adrian is really hardworking and dedicated. He takes care of old people – he looks after Bert Baxter.

Adrian comes from a really poor family and can't afford a nutritious diet. He also has a very strict dress code at school. He likes doing poetry and likes reading books. He has divorced parents.

He has a dog and a couple of close friends. I also have a dog and a couple of good friends.

In conclusion, we aren't really similar. We live in different countries that might be the main factor why we are different. So not all teenagers are the same.
