

JOURNAL

It all started a few weeks ago, my friends and I were really excited because we had a lot of plans. First, we would enjoy a lot in "Fallas" going to Valencia, going to parties, etc. A short time later, we would go to our school trip to Italy and we had already bought some clothes and things specially for this. When we returned home, we would be at Easter holidays and we would go to a cottage to celebrate it. And finally, at the end of the school year, we would graduate, what made us feel really happy and nervous. But, in February, something that we didn't expect arrived in Spain, Coronavirus started to spread in our country and, immediately, we had to stay at home and cancel all the plans we had made. At the moment, we are waiting to know how the situation is going to develop and when our plans will come true.
