His face was distorted and his eyes were piercing. He is always watching your every move like a hawk. He is tall and butch with scars all up his arm displaying his wild manner. The streets he roamed were popping with colour and exquisite smells. Whenever he walked, among the crowds everyone parted to let him through as if he was Moses walking through the middle of the sea. This was Adam Johnson. An undercover agent of the Bairro Alto Detective Agency.

Once upon a time ... a man who owned only one arm, it was said that he has no family. The streets from Bairro Alto it belongs to him. He should be a criminal, but everyone loves him on the streets. But it is still feared.

He has been undercover for 5 years to complete his biggest case. His mission was to become a part of the biggest drug cartel of Bairro Alto. If he succeeds to get in, he could end the biggest part of the drug trading.

At the end of these five years Adam Johnson was able to solve his biggest case successfully and could end the crimes that were being committed in Bairro Alto. In order to solve this case he decided to pause his career as a secret agent and went on vacation through Bairro Alto.

The End.
