Hello my name is Filip. I'm from Poland, but now I live in Norway:\

I live here with my family, mother, father and two smaller sisters. I like Norway, but sometimes I meet a very hard situation here, I mean racism. Some people they comment that I'm from Poland and just tell many things what they think about it and this is not a good thing. That is making me bad, but what I can do with it nothing I'm so mad about it:\

But in Norway you can also meet a lot of nice people. I think I have many friends here, but I miss my old friends. I still have contact with them so everything is all right :) We send pictures on an app called "Snapchat" with a small text to the others. We chat all nights. My longest conversation was with my best friend from Poland that was a 10 h from 20 o'clock to 6 o'clock. I think it is very good to get a contact with old friends. But the best moment is when I get to meet them live. In this year on vacation I was so happy, I began to cry. This is stupid, but that was true I was so happy. I go to Poland 2-3 times a year. The 2-3 must be the happiest moments in year.

I like to play football and playstation3, I swim and kayak and take photos. And I love to eat chocolate, chocolate is the best thing in the world. My favorite chocolate is a "Norwegian milk chocolate".

To continue with the kayak theme: my friend and his father and me went on a kayak trip. My best kayak trip ever, were 90 km on 7 days, that was almost amazing. I'll never forget this trip. We have a swim over 8 lakes and 12 rivers.

My dream is to be an airplane pilot. I think this is what I'll do the rest of my life. And fly the newest f35 this is something awesome.

But how is it in the future? Do cars have a water engine?

Which types of airplanes are there?

And will the world change? Are there trees in the world and water? I remember when I was a small I was so scared about the world being empty of water.

Best regards

Filip
