LOARRE CASTLE GUIDED TOUR

The Loarre Castle is an impressive 11th-century Romanesque fortress. It houses the church of Santa María.

It was built in the late 11th century on the orders of King Sancho Ramírez I of Aragon, on the remains of an old Roman fortress. It is considered to be the most important Romanesque fortress in Spain. It has an irregular floor plan and a double wall with cylindrical towers. The 12th-century Romanesque church of Santa María is on the interior, and has three naves and a barrel vault. It has capitals decorated with Roman iconography. It was first a royal residence, and later an Augustinian monastery.

We are going to do a guided tour service for our group.

The tour lasts for approximately one hour. In addition, we will enjoy an audiovisual projection film at the visitor center.

The content of the tour includes the use of Romanesque art, an appreciation of the landscape and historical anecdotes relating to the Kingdom of Aragon.
