

LESSON PLAN

Form: 8th

Subject: Lithuanian

Teacher: Vilhelmina Paniuškienė

Topic of the lesson: Writing a letter

Objectives of the lesson: After revising letter genre features and being introduced to requirements of writing formal and informal letters students will write informal letters to their peers in groups.

List of required material: multimedia, slides about letter genre features, a story about Ieva Krivickaitė 'The golden heart of Samogitian girl'.

Process of the lesson: teaching and learning activities

The activities during the lesson were organised using methods such as mind map, diary writing and heuristic conversation. At the beginning of the lesson students watched a social film (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nwAYpLVyeFU>). It was an entry to the lesson topic. The relationship between people as well as assistance in the film were discussed.

Students revised letter genre features. They wrote them on the blackboard and in their exercise books. Later a teacher showed the slides and they could check this information. Students read a story 'The golden heart of Samogitian girl' and created a mind map. The most important ideas were named there. These mind maps were discussed in groups, supplemented and some notes were made.

The task for the students was to write an informal letter to 15-year-old hero Ieva Krivickaitė and ask about something important for them, to express their ideas about her activities, to think if they could do the same things as she did. After finishing writing, the letters were talked over.

At the end of the lesson students fulfilled the notes in their self- assessment diaries and the lesson was summarized by asking and answering students' questions.
