

LESSON PLAN

Form: 7th

Subject: Social Science

Teacher: Fatma Filiz Aydın

Topic of the lesson: The fronts of Ottoman Empire in the First World War- the Caucasus front

Objectives of the lesson: The student will learn about the Ottoman Empire in the First world war. The will notice the how war could effect the people. They will learn the importance of being ready for unexpected circumstance. The value of being effective person.

List of required material:

The video “120 Hearts”, history and the geography maps and the lesson book.

Process of the lesson: teaching and learning activities

The video of “120 HEARTS” is watched by students and the lesson starts with students evaluation about the video. The students express their feelings and ideas about the video. Then On the history map the the Caucasus front is placed by the students. The students evaluate the the Caucasus front on the basis of climate and the geographical location. The students find the other fronts that Ottoman Empires had in the First world War. They compare the Caucasus front to other fronts . Although Ottoman Empires had the bad times in the First World War, The nation always helped their army .

The importance of the 120 children in the Caucasus front is emphasized. Beside that The following points are emphasized:

- To exist and to keep the power of the country depend on being nation
- The person who is hardworking, patriot and has self confidence add value to society

Additional material (tasks, handouts/worksheets):

Some documents ,photos documents about the Caucasus front on the net

Sources:

1. History and geography maps
2. Student book
3. Internet page of Turkish Armed Forces
4. Military Historical researches Magazine
5. Documentary of the Caucasus front