

French and Romanian Students Exhibition

We are part of an Erasmus+ project. There are 4 different schools which represent 4 different countries. There are French, Hungarian, Italian and Romanian students. Because of the Covid situation, we made 2 groups: Italian + Hungarian (online) and French + Transylvanians.

The subject of our project is "Job of future". For this mobility, the main subject is Traditional Jobs and Their Future. With Transylvanians, our final task was to make a photo exhibition. During the whole week, we visited some different places and learnt about some jobs.

Let's see our work! Enjoy!

The Hand-made Chimney Cake

(A kézműves kürtőskalács)

This woman is preparing the original treats of Transylvania the "kürtőskalács". While getting a glance at the traditional method of making the chimney cake, we also had a chance to try it out ourselves. They were delicious !

This job could never die because hand-made treats are much more delicious and special than the sweets from factories.

Road Sweepers

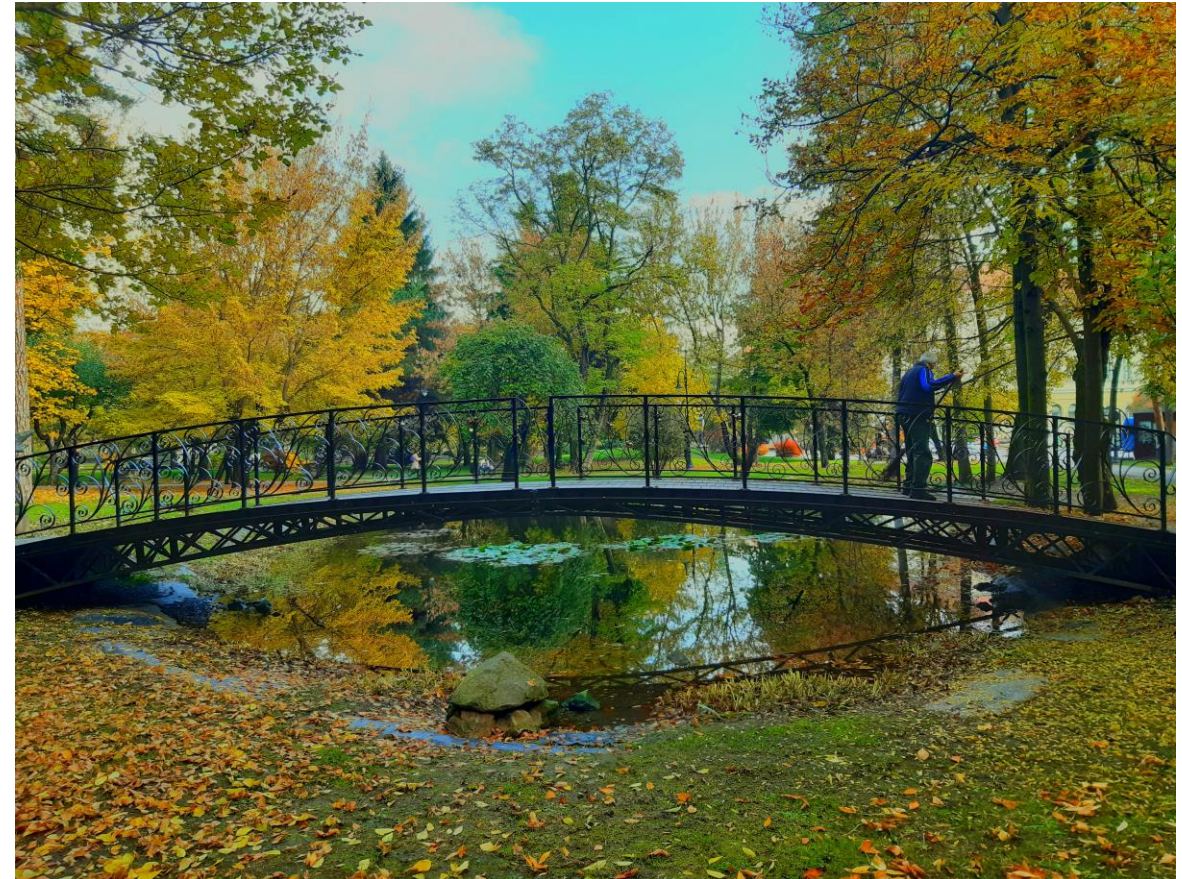

(Utca seprők)

The maintenance man's job has been practiced for a very long time. It may be threatened by robotization, but that technology is still not very present in Romania...

Manager of the Sepsi Stadium

(A Sepsi Aréna Menedzsere)

It has been a long time since as a child, Kertész Dávid wanted to work around the football club. When he was a child, he spent some time playing football.

In the future, stadium manager could disappear because it can be replaced by a robot. However, a robot will not be able to have the same interpretation of human's emotions. That's why the manager will be helped by computer tools that can assist him by example to calculate statistics more precisely.

Saleswomen at the Sepsi Stadium

(A Sepsi Aréna eladója)

Kriszta and Elvira are two saleswomen at the Sepsi stadium, who have also done secretary and administrative tasks. They were selling objects displaying the colors of the local team. In the future, we can imagine that this work will disappear, because it requires low qualifications. They can then be replaced by robots, like vending machines.

Construction Worker

(Építőmunkás)

The man on the picture was working to build the new stadium. In the future, we can imagine that this work will tend to disappear. Construction worker is a very traditional job, which has evolved since the last century, with the automation of processes. We can therefore imagine that this work will automate more and more. We may imagine that with the technical progress, there will still need workers because some precise tasks need humans.

The Light Technician of the Sepsi Stadium

(A Sepsi Aréna fénytechnikusa)

This job has evolved a lot with the help of evolution of new technologies. Today, the stadium lighting is important for TV Broadcast and the comfort of supporters at the stadium. This job is hard because this light technician controls 40 projectors all tilted in different directions.

The possible evolution of this job is the complete automatization of the lighting.

Priest of a Protestant Church in Covasna

(A kovásznai protestáns templom tiszteletese)

Wednesday 20 October 2021, Hugo Roussel.

Protestant churches both have similarities and differences. Architecture is similar even though the colors weren't the same. Furthermore, priests could be women or men.

Moreover, in Romania we can find different religions but the most popular ones are Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic.

Priests of the different religions have different roles: giving sacraments, teaching religion, organizing summer camps but they all have one thing in common : they believe in the same one God and goodness of mankind.

Waiter: a Multi-task Job (Pincér)

This picture represents Gábor who is a waiter. This job exists since the beginning of civilization. It needs some skills such as agility, speed, efficiency and the politeness with customers. So, it is a multi-task job. However, in the future, this work may end up because of the development of new technologies like robots.

Meeting with the Deputy Mayor

(Találkozás az alpolgármesterrel)

To the right, there is the Deputy Mayor Sfântu Gheorghe City, Vargha Fruzsina. She is only 25 years-old and she became Deputy Mayor for a mandate of 4 years. She studied in an art school. This job has changed with the end of communism regime. Indeed, before, this job was more about political relationships but nowadays she works more on social and ecological issues and with young people committed in culture and education.

Zoli, Owner of the Vass Pension

(A Vass Panzió tulajdonosa)

The traditional pension and farm are located in Zalán. The whole building was made like an old Villager house. The doors of the pension were decorated with secure and Hungarian tulip symbols. At the top of the door there was the Deer from the ancient Hungarian legend. In addition, Zoli wants to create a peaceful place for everyone and he wants to prove that a family can be autonomous on food produce on 1 hectare. In the future, this job can develop more in technical ways but it could never die, because people will always need fresh organic food from farms. Moreover, a robot can't taste a fruit to know when it is ready. That is why we will always need human experience.

Zoli, the Milkman

(Tejgyár tulajdonos)

Nowadays, cheese and milk are part of our daily life. To do this job, we need a special uniform adapted to a sterile environment. We had to wear white cape rubber boots, a hair cap, gloves and protection glasses. For Zoli, his job is all his life since 1994, when he started it. This job requires a lot of experiences. Besides, you can learn it even if you don't study it. You need also special qualifications to make good cheese respecting the process of maturity. This man was very nice, friendly and committed to his job

2021, Jean-Michel
Richardeau.

Transports have always evolved from horse-drawn carriages to motor vehicles such as this coach on this road. This evolution is a necessary step, and it is influenced by the human's need to go faster and to bring more and more persons.

Being an Art Teacher

(Művész tanárnak lenni)

Monday 18 October 2021, Jean-Michel Richardeau.

Art workshop is one of the tradition in Hungary made by hand with wool. This job needs patience, creativity and a bit of strength because adding water soap and pressing the wool with it can be quite hard! Finally, it is important to keep and transmit this traditional work in order not to make it disappear.

Kolozsiq Ildi is not only an art teacher: she is a creator who sells her different objects. She teaches to children but also adults. It is possible to learn with her.
