Music in teenagers' lives

Music is very important for teenagers.

Through music we can travel in time, remember good moments, feel better with ourselves and others because music transmits good vibrations. Music can also be a source of inspiration for people.

Teenagers in Portugal listen to all kinds of music: rap, pop, rock, kizomba, Latin music, pimba, fado, etc.

Our favourite music is Latin music, because we like the rhythm.

Fado is a Portuguese typical type of music that expresses feelings of nostalgia and sadness. It is appreciated all over the world and our best fadista ever was Amália Rodrigues.

Most teenagers don't really love fado because it's a bit sad and teenagers love music to have fun, dance and get together with friends.

Rap is a very appreciated type of music among teenagers because it expresses feelings of this generation: being rebel, breaking the rules and criticising society.
