Erasmus+ Project

Making Europe Count Everywhere

2017 - 2019

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

The Erasmus+ project "Making Europe Count Everywhere" focuses on the aspects as wells as the benefits of twinning and intercultural exchange on European level by establishing a strategic school partnership between three different schools from three European towns - namely Clevedon, Ettlingen and Middelkerke - which have been twinned with each other for more than six decades.

As a result, the collaboration between the three schools is the first project of such grand scale within the educational framework of the twinning history of the threetowns.

The project consists of students and teachers of the Albertus-Magnus-Gymnasium in Germany, Clevedon School in the United Kingdom and the Royal Atheneum Centrum Ostend in Belgium.

Our project's aims to increase the European dimension of schools and to raise awareness about the importance and the benefits of twinning and exchange between Europeans by providing to our students a new and attractive education approach and methods. The project will also allow students be active citizens since they will foster the European twinning spirit by producing a magazine for their communities and organising official events. Hence, they will contribute to a more cohesive society with a pronounced openness and understanding for diversity within our continent.
