British Mark 1

British heavy tanks are the first massive produced tank vehicles on the world. They were a series of related armoured fighting vehicles. The mark I was the first tank tracked and armed armoured vehicle.

France at the same time developed its own tracked AFVs, but the situation there was very different. In Britain a single committee had coordinated design, and had to overcome the initial resistance of the Army, while the major industries remained passive. Almost all production effort was thus concentrated into the Mark I and its direct successors, all very similar in shape.
