Comment about workshop: Informative and Clickbait

I think that this project is a great idea because it is very interesting, beautiful and makes you think about the different situations. All the topics are important because they are current problems and they talk about values in our society. (Michele)

In my opinion this work helps us a lot: it gives us the possibility to be able to speak, write and argue in English but also to think about the things that are written therefore the topics of the articles make us reflect.

The workshop we did on headlines, subheadlines and superheadlines taught us to understand better what an article is, what makes the title attractive but above all how to write a real article (Elia)
