

Dear future me,

You should have discovered by now that time flies. So do something about it. Do something you always wanted to do. Learn new things you always wanted to learn. Give your loved ones presents that only you could give them. At most of all, take a break. You are going to realise that time goes slower when you are not in a rush. Enjoy your youth. Enjoy your moments. Be kind. Be giving. Show love.