

Dear future me,

How are you? Knowing myself, you're probably either too happy or too sad. Please try to stay true to logic, don't get your mind clouded by emotions, as I am doing at the time of writing this letter. Did you really choose the right path, the right people and routines? Don't forget to judge everything daily, keeping only the beneficial parts of your life to you and sending all the others away. Also, please touch some grass.
