

Dear future,

Times are difficult right now. With Covid-19, and the exams that will determine our future in society coming up, I can with certainly say, that our anxiety has reached the roof. But that's not all. Due to choices, bad choices, that we and the previous generations made, our beautiful planet is slowly dying. Environmental problems are revealing themselves to us every day from the melting of the ice, to acid-rain and new diseases. And even though, my generation is becoming more and more aware of this huge problem, and has started to fix it, there are still a lot of people that with great certainly, refuse to believe and help. And so, in the end, the burden falls on you. It is up to you now, to fix what we caused. I don't know how the world will be for you. I truly hope that it will be better than ours.
