

Honorable Chair, fellow delegates, distinguished guests,

Leonardo Di Caprio once said: "Climate change is real. It is happening right now, it is the most urgent threat facing our entire species and we need to work collectively together and stop procrastinating." Procrastination is not going to help us when our planet is dying. Climate change is a global problem, mentioned in Goal 13 in the Sustainable Development Goals, from the 2030 agenda. China thinks that the air pollution is the main problem, which affects every Chinese citizen's health. China is doing its best to reduce the health effects by providing good quality medical care and reduce pollutants. Some of China's goals consist in expanding the use of renewable energy and improving the energy use in the industries. The People's Republic of China has a long way to prevent and combat climate change. We are trying to solve one thing at a time. But climate change is already here. The only thing we can do is to reduce its damage upon people.

Thank you.
