

Practicing Interpersonal Relationships doing an ingenious workshop

Class 3- Tutor: Vincenzo Naso- 14th December 2019

Our students after attending the two interpersonal classes felt so motivated that they actively engaged in the electronics lab, willing to step up to assume responsibility for what needed to be done: they asked their teachers to supervise their work and carried out their tasks by collaborating

They improved their Communications Skills: with top-notch communications skills, they adapted to the various temperaments, energy levels and communication styles of each other.

They even developed Leadership since they asked to motivate other mates to achieve positive results.

Teamwork: The success of a team depends on the ability of its members to work together. We should be able to give directions as well as take them. We should be able to give and receive constructive feedback.

"This project has been funded with support from the European Commission. This publication reflects the views only of the author, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein."