

The Future Begins Today- face to face with other schools

On 29th February 2020 two delegations from other schools were invited to share “The Future begins Today” project’s aims. Itt Malafarina staff introduced the purposes of the Erasmus+ project, showed the first part of the movie “The dreams come true” and some photos of mobilities.

After the vision a debate with guest students was carried out. Here is the synthesis of it:

1. if we analyze the title of the project, it seems you want to disown your past

-we do not deny our past, as you have seen in the photos, posters and activities of the mobilities we have shared past traditions in different fields (dance, music, food). The title could be seen as an auspicious hue to go on with our life, improving past ways of acting.

2. Are you referring to the ancient tradition of choosing own sons’ job?

-Yes, we have seen in the movie that there are young people who have different ambitions and dreams that do not coincide with their families’ ones

3. Do you believe that this occurs also today?

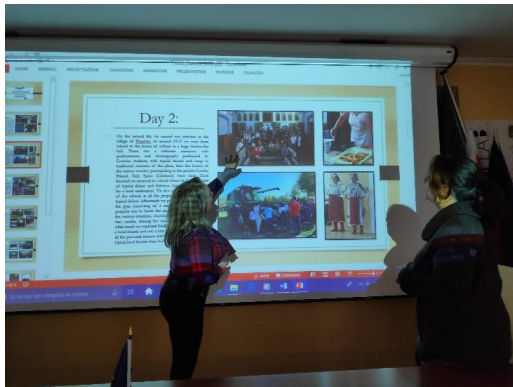

-Yes, sometimes even if young people are not conditioned by their families anymore, but by friends, trends and salary.

4. What is the message you want to convey?

-Young people should follow their dreams, but they have to study hard to fulfil their tasks in their future job properly. That’s why we have dedicated a lot of time to improve our entrepreneurship spirit

5. So, what could your final motto be?

- Choose your life consciously- your Future begins Today
