ROMANIAN TRADITIONAL OUTDOOR GAMES

- 1. Ducks and hunters
- 2. Four against two

Ducks and hunters

1. Players are divided into ducks and hunters. It takes 2 players to play the role of hunters, and the rest are ducks.
2. The play space is delimited. Usually, the space has a rectangular shape. At each end of the playground is a hunter, who is not allowed to enter the playground. Between the hunters are the ducks.
3. The role of hunters is to hunt the ducks with the ball. When a duck is hit by the ball, she/he gets out of the game.
4. The ducks must avoid the ball, without leaving the playing space.
5. The last remaining duck must be hit with the ball by the hunters from the maximum number of attempts as the years of her/his age. If they fail, the game resumes with the same hunters.
6. The game ends when all the ducks have been hit with the ball. The next hunters are the first 2 ducks that were taken out of the game.
7. There is a way in which ducks can earn extra lives if they manage to catch the ball before it touches the ground.

Four against two
-Cat or tomcats-

A square with a side of 20 meters is drawn on the sports field and then 2 players are chosen who will try to take possession of the ball passed (through shots/strikes like in football) between the other members of the team.

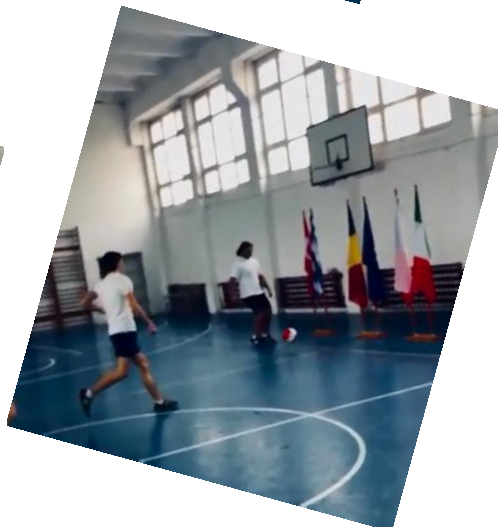

When one of the two players manages to touch the ball, he/she changes places with the one who passed last and the game continues.

If the ball goes out of play the last player to touch the ball changes place with one of the two players trying to touch the ball. Usually, the change will be made with the one who made the most recent change.
