

Collaborative Stories

→ Characters and compulsory words by: Apple Pens (Spain)

→ Story written by: The Shiny Stars (Portugal)

The three friends

This is the story of three inseparable friends: a cow, an elk and a rabbit. They really liked each other despite being completely different!

Carrots, the Rabbit was white and small. He was chubby, but he was fast and really intelligent.

Spotty, the cow was brown and big. She was slim, hated running and was really funny.

Alfred, the elk was very strong and really vain he had big horns!

When they were really young they used to play together in the woods every day. They played ball, they played hide-and-seek and sometimes they even played with toys. They loved the woods because there were lots of apple trees there. When they were hungry they would eat apples.

But they had a big problem - Their families were rivals – They really didn't like each other. When they found out that their kids played together and were best friends they were absolutely furious!! They decided to move to another town and live as far away as possible from each other.

The kids were devastated!! They felt completely alone and truly unhappy.

Time went by, but the kids never forgot the wonderful times they had in the woods. They all wanted to meet again one day and play like in the old times.

Then one Sunday morning, Carrots had a great idea and decided to create a Facebook account. He looked for Spotty and Alfred on Facebook. A few minutes later he found his friends. He sent them a message inviting them to meet in the woods. Spotty gave an idea to convince the families to be friends, but that would probably need a better plan. First of all they had to see each other again!

Spotty and Alfred accepted to meet immediately. Then Alfred filled a bag with memories of their childhood: photos, stickers, letters and lots of other things.

On a beautiful sunny day the three inseparable friends finally met again. They looked at the photos, read the letters and ate lots of apples! And they were happy once again!