

MI BURRITO SABANERO

A letter from 'Tu burrito sabanero' is one of the most popular among the carols of the Spanish countries. This song, which is sung in most houses when Christmas arrives, is characterized by the peace and tranquility it inspires.

Neither the origin of his stanzas nor the author is known, but the exact time of the piece is difficult, but it has also become popular since the second half of the 20th century.

He talks about the Virgin Mary and the care a newborn child gives her, but the most important part is the lyrics about the burro.

The interpretations of this popular carol are many and varied, but one of the most remembered is the one made by Hugo Blanco .

I listen and celebrated this music:

I-In my house and in my neighborhood also my grandparents.It is also often heard in bars or at night with family before kings.also at school Christmas parties
